Before You Press Play

Watch for how Pastor Mike Spiegel moves from Stockton and Lodi to the judgment-and-grace language of the gospel, showing that the real hope is not avoiding a guilty verdict but trusting Jesus' sentencing to life.

PARA REFLEXÃO

1. First Impressions

What details stand out in the opening setup about New Hope Fulton, the “Story Time” series, and Pastor Mike Spiegel's unlikely faith journey?

PARA REFLEXÃO

2. The Gospel Tension

How does he describe the courtroom image of the gospel, and why does he say the verdict is guilty for everyone?

PARA REFLEXÃO

3. Holding On

What does he mean when he keeps repeating, “hold on for the sentencing,” and how does that reshape the way he wants people to hear bad news and good news together?

Hold on for the sentencing. Hold on for the sentencing.

4. Jesus Enduring It All

As he prays through Jesus' suffering, what parts of the cross and resurrection does he emphasize, and how does that connect to grace and hope?

The climax of the gospel wasn't the cross. The climax was the resurrection, and we thank you for enduring it all for us, Lord.

5. Early Life in Stockton

What do you notice about Pastor Mike's family background in Stockton, his father as a police officer, his mother as a nurse, and his very limited church exposure?

PARA REFLEXÃO

6. Favor and the Butcher Job

Why does he treat the job at Gary and Meat Company as a sign of God's favor, and how does the contrast with Big John help him see grace differently?

God's favor isn't fair because he really is he does what he wants, and it doesn't always level the playing field, but his love is always the same.

7. From Religion to Real Faith

How does his story with Jill, the Adventist church, the Methodist church, and Neil begin to move him from knowing about religion to actually wrestling with faith?

PARA REFLEXÃO

8. Grace and Growth

He says he understood truth and right-or-wrong before he understood grace; what does that reveal about the difference between rule-keeping and being changed by God's mercy?

PARA REFLEXÃO

9. Why Pastoring?

What reasons does he give for sensing a call to ministry, and how do service, adoption into God's family, and practical compassion seem to shape his view of pastoring?

you're never too ordinary.

10. Your Story Matters

How does the conversation about New Hope's multicolored community and everyone's story challenge the idea that only dramatic testimonies matter, and how might that speak to your own life?

🕯️ ORAÇÃO 🕯️

After the Sermon Prayer

Lord Jesus, thank you that the gospel ends in life, not condemnation. Help us receive your grace, rest in your forgiveness, and trust that we are adopted into your family and given peace even when our lives feel uncertain. Amen.
